6th June 2022	MOCK EXAM WEEK	MOCK EXAM WEEK

Use your course guides for Russia given to you in September

- Can you remember what each of the key individuals did?
 - Do you know your nobs from your nobility?!?
 - Can you accurately use ALL key terms in a sentence in context?
 - Can you go through your topic check list with confidence that you have covered all areas?
 - Can you answer all the key questions?
 - Can you make a plan for any past paper question using detailed knowledge and examples?
- If so- you are ready for your mock exams- congratulations and good luck!

Some extra revision activities if you cannot do those suggested above:

Use Its Learning- there are resources on here for revision

Use Brainscape flashcards- I have sent you all a link to ones I have made or found

Make your own flash cards especially for key people, key words or key stats about something e.g. Causes Feb Revolution

Watching documentaries is not a productive way to revise as you are passively listening- if you watch a documentary- do something with the info- e.g. if watching a documentary on causes of the 1905 revolution- make detailed mindmap from the info. Be prepared to pause and rewind!
